USAF
CREDITS FOR THE DESTRUCTION OF ENEMY AIRCRAFT
KOREAN WAR

SCANNED BY ISA

P R E F A C E

Since the beginning of World War I it has been the custom and practice of the US Air Force to award credits to individual members of the service for the enemy aircraft they have destroyed in combat. This study provides a detailed listing of all of the USAF credits for the Korean War.*

A compilation of Korean credits was made during the war by Mr. Falk Harmel of the Awards Branch, Headquarters USAF. When his files subsequently were sent to the Air Force Records Center at St. Louis, research was continued there under the direction of Mr. J. D. Kilgore and Mr. Cletus J. Cattoor. During the war Major (now Lieutenant Colonel) George C. Bales collected data on the aces, and later he served as chairman of the board of officers who prepared the official chart, "Jet Aces of the Korean Conflict," which the Air Force published in 1957. These materials, which were transferred to the USAF Historical Division in 1957 when the Division became responsible for historical matters pertaining to USAF victory credits, were of great value in the preparation of this study. Much additional research was required, however, to complete the previous compilations, obtain data on units and aircraft, verify names, ranks, and serial numbers, resolve problems concerning duplicate credits that had been awarded in some cases, and prepare the statistical data which is presented in Part III of the study.

* No comparable list has been published for World War II. For World War I, Air Service Information Circular (Heavier-Than-Air), Vol I, No. 7, 9 Feb 1920, revised 22 Jul 1931, provides a list of the recipients and their total scores; however, the Circular does not give any data on the separate credits awarded to each person.

† The title "ace" has no official status in the USAF. See USAF Historical Study No. 73, A Preliminary List of U. S. Air Force Aces, 1917-1953 (Jan 1962), pp 1-2.

This study was initiated in 1961 by Dr. Albert F. Simpson, Chief of the USAF Historical Division, and was prepared under the supervision of Dr. Maurer Maurer, Chief of the Historical Studies Branch. Dr. Robert F. Futrell, author of The United States Air Force in Korea, 1950-1953,* served as consultant and provided a list of aces in the order in which each gained his fifth victory in air-to-air combat over Korea. Mr. Lawrence J. Paszek, Historian in the Historical Studies Branch, and Lieutenant Colonels John F. Avery, Arthur H. Bowers, and John B. Deavours, Air Force reserve officers who had short tours of active duty with the Branch, assisted with the verification of data. The Data Processing Center of Air University made a series of tabulations of the data and processed the list of credits reproduced in Part I of this study. Typing and clerical services were performed by Mrs. Lois L. Lynn. Mrs. Molly L. Keever prepared the final copy for the printer.

The USAF Historical Division will appreciate comments concerning this study. Communications should be addressed to ASI (HS), Maxwell AFB, Ala.

I. LIST OF KOREAN CREDITS

During the Korean War, Far East Air Forces (FEAF) claimed the destruction of 976 enemy aircraft. Some claims made by persons or units assigned or attached to FEAF were not confirmed when they were evaluated against available evidence (e. g., gun-camera film or eye-witness reports). Sufficient evidence has been found, however, to support awards of official USAF credits to 470 persons for the destruction of 935 enemy aircraft. Of these 935 credits, 895.5 have been bestowed upon members of the USAF and the remaining 39.5 upon members of other services--US Navy, US Marine Corps, * Royal Air Force, Royal Australian Air Force, and Royal Canadian Air Force--who served in combat with FEAF, the superior USAF command in the theater. The credits are for aircraft destroyed in the air (893) and on the ground (42). Most of them (907) were won by fighter pilots; some (27) went to gunners on bomber and reconnaissance aircraft; one was given to the pilot of a light bomber.<sup>7</sup> In no case was a credit divided among more than two persons, but if two men participated in the destruction of one enemy plane, each received one-half of one credit.

Awards of "official credit for destruction of enemy aircraft" were made by means of general (later special) orders published by Headquarters FEAF (later redesignated Headquarters Pacific Air Forces). FEAF, however, did not begin to award credits until nearly 10 months after the first enemy plane was destroyed; consequently, it is possible that some of the early victories were not recorded. In fact, credits for the first three victories, which were won on 27 June 1950, were not awarded until 13 February 1962. Additional credits may be bestowed if in the future sufficient evidence is found to justify such action. The list which follows covers the Korean credits awarded through 1 June 1963.

* For a list of enemy aircraft destroyed by personnel of the US Navy and US Marine Corps, including those destroyed by Navy and Marine pilots attached to FEAF units, see Malcolm W. Cagel and Frank A. Manson, The Sea War in Korea (Annapolis: US Naval Institute, 1957), pp 526-527.

<sup>7</sup> The pilot of the light bomber, a B-26, was Capt Richard M. Heyman of the 8th Bombardment Sq, 3d Bombardment Gp. For a brief account of the action in which Heyman destroyed a PO-2, see Futrell, The USAF in Korea, 1950-1953, p 282.

Note on Format

The list, in which recipients of credits are listed in alphabetical order, provides the following data for each credit officially awarded:

NAME: The person who received the credit.

RANK: The person's rank as shown in the order awarding the credit. If the order indicated a change in rank after the action for which the credit was awarded, the former rank is listed.

SERIAL: The serial number of the person credited. The number is in the format prescribed by the USAF for personnel rosters produced by automatic equipment for processing data. In that format, the serial number of a Navy or Marine officer is prefixed by "NO," and that of a foreign officer by "FO"; in addition, one or more zeroes are inserted between the prefix (including the "AO" prefix to the serial number of a USAF reserve officer) and the number proper if required to fill all of the columns allotted on the punched card used to record the data.

SERVICE: The service (e. g., USAF, US Navy, or Royal Air Force) of which the person was a member.

UNIT: The unit to which the person was assigned or attached for duty, or with which he was flying, at the time of the action for which the credit was awarded. The unit is indicated by its numerical designation and echelon, but not by function (e. g., bombardment or fighter). In the list, "GP" indicates assignment or attachment to headquarters of a tactical group; "WG" indicates assignment or attachment to the headquarters of a tactical wing or, in one instance, to one of the wing's supporting units.

CREDIT: Listed by number and type: a whole (WH) credit is shown as 1.0; a fractional (FR), i. e., half, credit is shown as 0.5; "A" indicates credit for an enemy plane destroyed in air-to-air combat; "G" indicates credit for one destroyed on the ground.

DATE OF CREDIT: The date (day, month, and year) on which the enemy plane was destroyed.

TYPE ENEMY AIRCRAFT: The designation of the enemy aircraft destroyed. The designations "PROP" and "JET" refer to propeller-driven or jet aircraft that were not identified by specific type.

TYPE UN AIRCRAFT: The designation of the United Nations aircraft in which the recipient of the credit was flying at the time of the action.

CREW POSITION: The position of person awarded the credit, with "P" indicating pilot, and "G" indicating gunner.

ORDER: The number and date (year) of the FEAF/PACAF general or special order (G-Series) containing the credit.

II. CREDITS v. CLAIMS

Of the 976 enemy aircraft which FEAF claimed to have destroyed during the Korean War, 953 were attributed to USAF personnel: 900 in air-to-air combat and 53 on the ground.* USAF personnel have been awarded credits for the destruction of 895.5 enemy aircraft: 853.5 in the air and 42 on the ground.†

A complete list of the 953 claims is not available and cannot be compiled from existing sources; consequently, an item-by-item collation of credits and claims is impossible. Statistics are available, however, for a month-by-month comparison.‡ Such a comparison has revealed some interesting discrepancies.

With the wartime total of these USAF claims exceeding the credits by 57.5, it is evident that for at least some months the claims must exceed the credits; however, no logical explanation has yet been found for the fact that for some months (e. g., April 1951) the credits exceed the claims. These discrepancies in the monthly figures naturally raise some doubts as to the validity of the procedures by which claims were recorded and credits were awarded.** Following is a month-by-month comparison of credits and claims.

* USAF Statistical Digest, FY 1953, pp 20-25.

† The half credit is the result of a division of one credit between a USAF pilot (Col. James K. Johnson) and a Marine pilot (Capt. Dewey F. Dunford) for a MIG-15 they destroyed near Sinuiju, Korea, at 1540 on 17 May 1953.

‡ Monthly figures for claims are given in USAF Statistical Digest, FY 1953, pp 20-25; monthly figures for credits were tabulated for the USAF Historical Division by Air University's Data Processing Center.

** For a detailed examination and discussion of the various systems used by the USAF in processing claims and awarding credits during World Wars I and II and the Korean War, see A Preliminary List of U. S. Air Force Aces, 1917-1953, pp 6, 10-12, 31-32, 35-38.

III. STATISTICAL DATA

Although the list in Part I of this study supplies detailed data concerning the credits awarded to the various persons, it does not readily provide data on the number of credits awarded to personnel of the different units, the number of each of the various types of enemy aircraft which were destroyed, and other information which may be desired by persons interested in Korean credits. Such information is presented in the statistical tables which follow.

A. SUMMARY OF CREDITS

Awarded to	Credits
	Air-Air	Air-Ground	Total
USAF Fighter Pilots	825.5	42.0	867.5
USAF Light-Bomber Pilot	1.0	-	1.0

334th Ftr-Intcp	142.5	-	142.5
335th Ftr-Intcp	218.5	-	218.5

* This tabulation, based upon data contained in the orders awarding the credits, gives totals for the credits awarded to persons who flew with the various combat squadrons or who were assigned or attached to the headquarters of the various groups or wings. It is interesting to note that one combat wing, the 4th Ftr Intcp (including the 4th Ftr Intcp Gp and the 334th, 335th, and 336th Ftr Intcp Sqns), accounted for more than 54 percent of the enemy aircraft for which credits were awarded. The number of enemy aircraft destroyed by any one organization depended upon the kind of aircraft used, the level of training and experience, the quality of leadership, the length of time in combat, the character of the operations assigned, and a number of other factors, many of which were beyond the organization's control.

* See note in Preface. In addition to 38 USAF aces, this list includes Maj John F. Bolt, a Marine Corps pilot who was attached to a USAF unit and was awarded 6 credits by FEAFF. The Navy's Korean ace, Lt Guy B. Bordelon gained his fifth victory on 16 Jul 1953; although he apparently was flying under the direction of Fifth Air Force when he gained his victories, he evidently was not formally attached to a FEAFF unit and consequently did not receive his credits from FEAFF.

* McConnell's fifth victory was confirmed after Fernandez' fifth; consequently, Fernandez was listed as the 26th and McConnell as the 27th USAF ace of the war.

V. SOME OUTSTANDING EVENTS

25 June 1950: Communist forces of North Korea attacked the Republic of South Korea at 0400 hours.

27 June 1950: Maj. James W. Little, Commander, 339th Fighter All-Weather Squadron, fired the first shot from an American gun while he was flying an F-82 on patrol over Kimpo and Suwon to cover the evacuation of American citizens from Korea.

27 June 1950: First Lt. William G. Hudson, flying an F-82 of the 68th Fighter All-Weather Squadron, shot down a YAK-11 near Seoul at approximately 1150 hours and was credited with the first aerial victory of the war.

8 November 1950: First Lt. Russell J. Brown, in an F-80 of the 16th Fighter-Interceptor Squadron, gained the first USAF victory over a MIG-15 jet fighter.

20 May 1951: Capt. James Jabara, 334th Fighter-Interceptor Squadron, gained his fifth aerial victory in Korea and became the first USAF "ace" of the war.

13 December 1951: Maj. George A. Davis, Jr., 334th Fighter-Interceptor Squadron, gained his tenth aerial victory in Korea and became the first "double ace" of the war.

18 May 1953: Capt. Joseph M. McConnell, Jr., 39th Fighter-Interceptor Squadron, won his fifteenth victory in aerial combat and became the first "triple ace" of the Korean War.

27 July 1953: Capt. Ralph S. Parr, Jr., 335th Fighter-Interceptor Squadron, gained the last aerial victory of the Korean War when he shot down an IL-2 near Hoha-dong at 1230 hours.

27 July 1953: The Armistice became effective at 2201 hours.
